

What's happening on site?

Updated August 2021

On Friday 23 July we officially 'broke ground' on the site where the Dyson Cancer Centre will be built.

It's an important milestone in the construction of this 'truly special' building, set to open for patients in late 2023. This will bring the majority of our cancer services under one roof.

Oncology Matron Caroline Gilleece had the honour of officially digging in, on the spot where the new reception area will be.

We were joined on the day by partners including Macmillan, The Forever Friends Appeal and Kier.
